Curfew Law Again Put Into Force; Relief Matters Under Discussion; Take Action Against Fire Hazards

Endeavor to Get Better Radio Reception; Closing By-Law Held Over.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Tuesday evening. Present Mayor Antrobus, Councillors Aboussafy, Dutil, Ford, Jenkins.

Works and Property committee reported on the Mike Ferrara buildings on Main street west. They recommended certain work be allowed done.

A report was received from Dr. C. Rose, medical health officer re Chow Googy. The latter had been given the necessary medicine and was scheduled to be examined by the travelling clinic which visited Coleman on Tuesday. Council will await report from the clinic before making any decision regarding relief.

Police committees will experiment this coming week on Main street to determine the most satisfactory angle on which the parking by-law should be based. The present angle of parking on the north side of Main street has proved unsatisfactory. The parking laws on the south side will remain the same and parking zones will be painted within the next few days.

A West Coleman resident wanted to know if his taxes would be increased if he laid concrete sidewalks inside his yard. To the best knowledge of the council the taxes would not be raised. Secretary will write Edmonton to get a ruling on this point.

Mrs. Bakaj asked and received a load of coal. She will be instructed that this will be the last as council understands a member of her family is physically able to gather coal.

The question of financial aid in the funeral expenses of the late Mrs. Mary Lukasek was tabled until the next meeting.

The Relief committee was authorized to investigate the case of a relief recipient who stated in a letter she was no longer able to afford light and water at their present rates.

A report from the inspector of Trade and Relations was read.

Constable Antle will be given one day's rest in seven. During his absence Town Foreman Nikituk will take over police duties. Police committee was authorized to work out a schedule so that both men will be given one day's rest in seven.

It was unanimously decided that the curfew law should again go into effect. Wednesday, April 16, was the day appointed for commencement of the law. The fire bell will ring each evening at 9.

Due to numerous complaints by ratepayers regarding radio interference it was decided that a letter be sent to radio authorities to send in a trouble-shooter.

The question of taking care of C. Gildo, at present a patient in the local hospital, was brought before the council by the hospital board. No decision was reached. Efforts will be made to contact relatives with a view to making satisfactory arrangements in taking care of the old gentleman.

O. Bombien has complained that owing to the poor drainage system around his property, water has caused his cess-pool to cave-in. Works and Property committee was authorized to inspect the drainage system.

A laborer will be sent to that part of Second street lying immediately in front of the C. F. Dunlop residence to decide whether a grade or steps would be most satisfactory in aiding the occupants of the house in climbing the small hill there. He will report findings to the Works and Property committee which was given power to act.

Mrs. John Gamache has been awarded mother's allowance according to a report received from Edmonton.

A "button" will be placed in the centre of the intersection nearby the J. A. McDonald residence on Second-street. It was further moved that the police will prosecute all motorists failing to make the proper turn around the button.

The provincial fire inspector was in town recently and took a number of pictures of fire hazards. Those pictures were studied by the council and already several persons guilty of owning fire traps have received a form, a copy of which has been sent to Edmonton. This form instructs the owner that certain improvements must be made within a stipulated time and failure to do so will bring prosecution by the provincial authorities.

A bill from Ernie Beart for construction work on the new jail was authorized paid.

Two bylaws regarding the closing hours of all local merchants were again held over to the next meeting.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION Thought a Day For a People at War

"We can hold out indefinitely, because we just shan't give in until victory is secured." There will be hard times ahead for us if we have to hold out very, very long, but we know that and are prepared for it. There is absolutely no thought of surrender.—Phyllis Bentley, distinguished English novelist.

Soldiers' Letters From Overseas

Johnny Raymond, Roy And Ross Foster Still Together; L. McLeod Boosts War Services Organizations

Friends of Coleman Legion:

Roy Foster and myself received your parcels of cigarettes this morning. We felt very happy about it to know that you still remember us. Thanks is just a small thing to say to express what we feel about it. Ross Foster is with me also; we know that his parcel must have got delayed in some way, but we will share ours with him until he gets it.

You, my friends, are wondering what we are doing with ourselves over here. We are truck drivers, the three of us. We are on the go every day. We clean up bombed places, carry troops, ammunition for the big guns on the coast and many other small jobs.

I would like to say this that over here is no playground for Canadian soldiers or any other soldiers. Lots of people think we are enjoying ourselves making love to the English girls. It's not true—far from it! All of England is at war work and does not bother about play. People old, young, sick, poor are all working their utmost to get rid of this enemy that is trying its best to break them.

Well as you know the people here had it very bad at the beginning but they stood their ground. Now to-day we are stronger than Hitler's army. It has proved to us . . . to me at least . . . that when people get united there is victory in the end.

I hope you miners are not fighting with each other any more. That kind of stuff has died out years ago. My hopes are that after this war is over that I can walk down Coleman street and see everyone happy and glad that all those foolish spites among the miners are settled. A man should consider himself lucky to come out of some of the places I have seen. So boys, I hope you will all fix your little troubles soon.

We three here still talk about the mines as if we are coming back to work to-morrow. I hope we do. If all of you wish us luck I know that God in some way will see us through. I suppose you are getting tired reading all this. If some of you boys wish to write to me or the Foster boys you will be sure of an answer. I hope this letter finds all the members of the Legion in good health and their families. Thanks again for your remembrance. Roy and Ross say hello to all. Friend Johnnie Raymond."

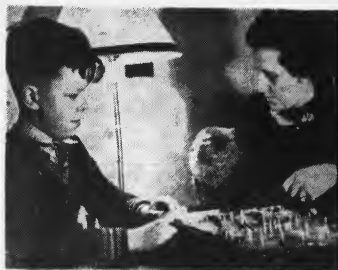

"Coleman Branch Canadian Legion—Dear Sirs: Received your most welcome gift of 300 Sweet Caps, and thank you very much for same as they are always appreciated.

Juvenile Composers Surprise Judges in Dominion Contest

COMPOSES FOR PIANO AND VIOLIN

Clayton Rose, second junior winner in the Canadian Performing Rights Society's contest, has been studying music since he was 4. Now, at 13, he spends much of his time composing pieces for piano and violin, both of which he studies with his grade 8 school work. His piano teacher is Mrs. Roland Pinkney, of Blairmore. He is shown here with his mother playing Chinese checkers.

SENIOR PRIZE-WINNER

LAWRENCE GOODWILL
A.T.C.M., L.R.S.M.

Mr. Goodwill, of Vancouver, was awarded third place in the Dominion-wide competition staged by the Canadian Performing Rights Society at Toronto for piano compositions submitted.

FIRST IN JUNIORS

CLERMONT PEPIN

Young Pepin, 14, student at College de Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, Kamouraska, Que. won first prize for juniors in the Canadian Performing Right Society competition. He composed several piano variations.

Clermont Pepin, 14, of Quebec, Won First Prize; Clayton Rose, Local Youth, Won Second, And Joyce Maureen Cohn, 9, Won Third Prize.

Clermont Pepin, 14 years, was awarded first prize of $25.00 for juvenile composers under 16 years. He is a student at College de Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, Kamouraska, Quebec. He submitted a vocal selection "Hymne de la Mort" and a set of five piano variations.

Second ($15), Clayton Rose, 13, Coleman, who submitted a Sonatina and Romance for violin.

Third ($10), Joyce Maureen, 9, London Ontario, for two melodies "Salute to the Royal Family" and "Spring Song." These were actually composed when the child was seven.

The adjudicators were Sir Ernest MacMillan, Prof. Leo. Smith, of the University of Toronto; Godfrey Hewitt, F.R.C.C., Ottawa; Hector Charlesworth and Henry T. Jameison, president of the Performing Rights Society.

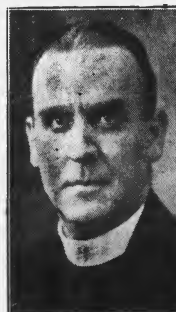

In 1938 young Pepin had resided at St. Georges, Beauce County, Quebec, and an exceptionally promising composition by him had prompted Henry T. Jameison to award a special prize which had proved a spur to the boy's ambitions.

Of young Rose the critic's comments read: "It was significant that the second prize went also to a child reared in a rural community. It was a Sonatina and Romance for violin which showed considerable promise and the adjudicators were surprised to find a composition of this type coming from a child in a prairie community."

Sir Ernest MacMillan will conduct three open air concerts in Stanley Park, Vancouver, on June 29, July 13 and 27. The concerts are sponsored by the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

Bishop Sherman At St. Alban's Church On Sunday

At 7 p.m. on Sunday next Rt. Rev. L. Ralph Sherman, D.D., will hold confirmation service in St. Alban's. He will likely arrive from Calgary on Sunday morning, quite early, and at 11 a. will hold confirmation service at St. Luke's, Blairmore.

During the day he will be the guest of Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Hague at the rectory. It is anticipated there will be many out at both places, and parishioners are urged to be in their places ahead of the time of the services.

Truck And Car Stolen During Past Week

Truck Found Near Burnisle; Car Found Behind Coke Ovens; Motorists Warned to Lock Cars.

A truck and a Chevrolet car were stolen during the past week by persons unknown. Luckily both were recovered a short time after their owners reported them stolen.

Last week a new truck owned by C. Drain, of Blairmore, was reported stolen and R.C.M.P. found it abandoned near Burnisle. On Saturday evening a Chevrolet car parked at Holyk's grocery on Main street and owned by Jack Tompkins, of Blairmore, was stolen. This machine was later found behind the coke ovens. The guilty party, before abandoning the machine broke a glass, damaged a hub cap, chipped the steering wheel and did other miscellaneous damage.

Due to so many strangers visiting Coleman at the weekends, motorists are well advised to lock their cars. Jack Tompkins had his car key in his pocket but that did not stop some nimble fingered thief from starting the car.

Rosean Nikituk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nikituk, of East Coleman, was guest-of-honor at a party given her on the occasion of her sixth birthday. Before starting the festivities Rosean and her twenty-two little guests stood at attention and sang "O Canada." Cake, ice cream and soft drinks were among the good things enjoyed by all. The guest-of-honor was presented with many lovely gifts.

GROWN IN SUNNY, SOUTHERN ONTARIO

Sacrifices Here And There

The Canadian national income for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1942 has been officially estimated at $5,950,000,000, close enough to call it six billion dollars. During the same fiscal year, the people of this country will make a direct contribution towards the war effort of an estimated $1,450,000,000 and an indirect contribution of $1,150,000,000 representing Great Britain's estimated deficit on her account for war materials supplied by this country to her during the same period.

A little mental arithmetic shows that these combined contributions of the people of this country towards smashing Nazism during the current fiscal year will cost the people of this country approximately 44 per cent. of the Canadian national income.

When to this is added the very substantial sums that have been contributed and can be sure will continue to be contributed, by way of purely voluntary effort for the support and comfort of the armed forces of our own country and of Great Britain, for the assistance of refugees and victims of aggression in the Old Land and elsewhere and for other kindred objectives, Canadians have every reason to feel that they are not taking a back seat.

Indeed, in the light of such a war record, to quote Prime Minister Mackenzie King on the third reading of the war appropriations bill, "without boasting and without vainglory, we may all take pride in the vision, the unity, the resolution and the achievement of the Canadian people."

Yes, that is quite an achievement and entails considerable sacrifices, sacrifices which the people of Canada are quite willing to make to ensure that ultimately right shall prevail over might, and there is no guarantee that Canadians may have to make even greater sacrifices than payment of 44 per cent. of the national income before the goal is finally reached.

In Great Britain

After all, when one compares the lot of the average Canadian with that of his relatives and friends who are bearing the brunt of the shock of battle in Great Britain, a contribution of 44 per cent. of the national income is not excessive.

Despite this contribution, it is a fair assumption that practically every resident of this country will, during the fiscal year 1941-42, enjoy three hearty, square meals a day with a free range choice of diet, not only in quantity but in variety; that every Canadian will be able to enjoy a good night's sleep every night throughout the year, without fear of being crushed to death with the collapse of his house under a rain of bombs; that no Canadian will suffer from exposure for lack of sufficient clothing to keep him warm.

In the Motherland, on the other hand, not only are the people willingly and cheerfully devoting one half of their income to the prosecution of the war, but they are suffering dietary inconveniences which the well fed Canadian would find irksome, to say the least. They are existing on reduced rations of meat to conserve space in ocean bottoms for much needed war materials. Consumption of butter has been cut very sharply and the use of some other food commodities has been materially curtailed or has disappeared entirely. On top of that, they never know when they retire for the night whether they will live to see another day.

If in these respects the Canadian is better off than his friends and allies in the United Kingdom, his lot is infinitely superior, more tolerable and more enjoyable than that of the freedom-loving peoples of other European countries, now under the grinding heel of the ruthless Nazi conqueror.

And In Norway

In illustration one has only to cite the predicament in which the people of Norway find themselves after one year of Hitler's rule. In that country, where conditions are not yet as harsh as in Poland, a huge army of occupation, estimated at 300,000 men, continue to requisition meat, eggs and other foods, and the Norwegian puppet-Nazis have first pick. A letter received in Great Britain from friends in Norway states that "meat can scarcely be found anywhere, and even farmers who have pigs are not allowed to use them for their own families." Bread is made with so many ingredients that it tastes like cardboard, and "as for real flour, that can't be bought in the stores."

In northern Norway where fish is the staple support of the population, fishermen cannot get gasoline for their boats, and the country's supply of dried stock fish, 7,000 tons, has been seized while all domestic sales of kippers have been stopped. Germany wants kippers to use in bartering for products needed by the Reich, so they have demanded 10,000 tons for themselves and 9,000 tons for Italy, despite the fact that Norway's entire supply of kipfish is only 13,000 tons.

An inkling of the clothing situation in Norway is given by the author of another letter received in Great Britain in which the writer says "You can't think of buying anything without a ration card, not even thread, yarn or a tiny piece of cloth. We get 300 coupons per year in our card, but a dress requires 150 coupons and a little yarn 30 coupons. Men can buy only one suit or overcoat a year. I am in despair when I think how many coupons it takes just to buy stockings for the boys."

It is well that fortunate Canadians who are asked to contribute 44 per cent. of the national income to "fight the good fight" should think of the plight of these people in other lands, when they open their purse strings.

Visitors To National Parks

Total Greatly Increased During Fiscal Year Ended March 24

The total number of visitors to the national parks of Canada during the fiscal year ended March 24 showed an increase of 17.5 per cent. over the preceding year, it was indicated in a statement received at Calgary by Robert J. C. Stead, superintendent of information at the national parks bureau, Ottawa.

Sea Water Harmful

A person adrift at sea will live longer by taking no water at all than by drinking sea water. Sea water is so salty that, while the kidneys are eliminating the excess salts, water from the blood plasma is lost, thus hastening death.

Italians In France

Replacing Germans But Coast Protection Entrusted To Nazis

The British Broadcasting Corporation quoted a report by the "Independent" French news agency that German troops in occupied France are being replaced by Italians. The message said large contingents already have arrived in western France from Italy. "But no Italians will be entrusted with the protection of the coast."

Consider It Hard Luck

But Canadians Long Wait For Action Means Greater Efficiency

Canadian troops "with ordinary luck" would have been in action against the enemy before the Australians, Maj. Gen. R. J. Collins said in a broadcast from London.

After relating what "this long weary waiting for a fight" meant to the Canadians, Maj. Gen. Collins said that "with ordinary luck they should have been sure of getting going before the Anzacs... instead of which the Aussies finished one of the most successful campaigns before the Canadian even had a chance to show their fire."

The brief sortie into France without contacting the enemy "only made it worse," he said. "All the same I'm sure they'd agree, if you ask them, that they are 100 per cent. more fit today to take on the Hun than they were when they landed..." Under Lt.-General McNaughton's inspiring drive and leadership they have made great progress."

Large Outlays

Canadian Red Cross Has Spent $120,371.00 For Comfort Of Fighting Forces

For the aid of men of the British Navy and of other numerous seamen of the merchant marine in and out of very busy eastern seaports of Canada, the Canadian Red Cross from its funds of 1939 and 1940 campaigns has made very large outlays.

For a hostel of 750 beds requiring extensive furnishing and now operated by the Y.M.C.A. for the enlargement of an army hostel of 250 beds now conducted by the Salvation Army, and for canteen equipment for the Knights of Columbus, a total of $60,000 was spent. For these institutions so much needed by the men, money had to be found quickly. The Red Cross was very glad to make the foundation investments so that other organizations might assume the operation of them, and as they now continue.

For an extensive Navy yards elsewhere in Canada, requiring rebuilding of premises, enlargement and furnishing, a further $20,000 was spent in the early part of 1940. In addition, for supplies for these institutions, camp clothing for men in keel, large numbers coming from the ships in cold weather, and the hospital equipment and garments required in eastern naval army hospitals, goods to the value of $40,371 were supplied at a time when they were immediately needed and no other source could provide them in such ready and large quantities.

There has, therefore been a total of $120,371 for these purposes. At a meeting of early April the Red Cross decided to meet a very serious need for a new canteen and recreation building in Halifax for the men of all sea services. As it required $20,000, this amount was readily voted.

Survey Party Of Geologists On Way To Northern Location

The year's first survey party of geologists to hunt for new mineral deposits which would help Canada's war effort is already on its way to the Northwest Territories.

It is headed for a location north of Yellowknife and the unusually early start has been made so the party may reach its destination before the spring breakup, thereby gaining more than two weeks in the field.

The party is headed by A. W. Joffe, geologist of the department of mines and resources and is the first of more than 50 parties which will go out across Canada as soon as warm weather sets in.

Department spokesmen declined to make public the mineral outcroppings that has taken Mr. Joffe and his associates north at so early a date but admitted if the geologist found favorable indications there a development would follow that would be of considerable assistance in wartime production, particularly of steel.

Not To Be Believed

Good Story About Norwegian Fisherman And Two Nazis

News of Norway says the inhabitants of a small fishing village in one of the fjords of Western Norway recently witnessed the forced landing of an airplane a few hundred yards from shore. One of the local fishermen set out by rowboat to rescue two pilots who were foundering in the water.

A crowd on shore watched the fisherman pick up the two airmen and start for land. But suddenly he pulled his oars in, grappled with the two men and threw them overboard. When he reached shore the sheriff questioned him:

"Why in blazes did you throw those men into the fjord?"

"They turned out to be Germans. I first thought they were British."

"But did you drown them? Weren't they alive when you tossed them overboard?"

"Well, one of them said he was alive, but you know how these Nazis lie..."

Replies To Critics Of Britain's Decision To Send Troops to Greece

London. The first lord of the admiralty, A. V. Alexander, attacked "arm-chair critics" of Britain's decision to send troops to Greece and declared to his London audience that tonnage of Italian transports destroyed by the navy runs into "six figures."

The first lord did not divulge what the figures were.

"There are some who can be wise after events and who criticize strategy and military dispositions," he said. "I ask them to realize the vast change in the situation since last June when France collapsed and the assassin Mussolini entered into the war thinking he was going to get something cheap."

"There were many people then who doubted our ability to last many weeks."

Mr. Alexander enumerated Britain's African victories and said:

"It seems wrong in the circumstances for an arm chair critic to tell us we ought not to have risked our position in Libya to go to the aid of Greece. . . I do not think the government has any need to apologize for its decision."

He said Britain's burden in the Battle of the Atlantic is "grave and heavy" but predicted an increasing toll of German submarines and long-range planes.

He declared Britain would have to go on struggling "to get back to something like the escort position we had in the last war when we worked not only as a single fleet but had five powerful allied fleets and five times the number of destroyers we have now."

The amazing thing is that the navy has kept the lifeline open." The first lord said one of Germany's best submarine commanders, Schepe, is dead, and that Cmdr Otto Kretschmer, credited in Berlin last December with having sunk more than 250,000 tons of shipping, is a British prisoner.

Kretschmer, Mr. Alexander continued, was "dolized in Germany as the wolf of the Atlantic."

At Sittingbourne, in Kent, Solicitor-General Sir William Jowitt told a meeting that Britain "could not lose the war in Greece, at the Suez canal or in the oilfields of Mosul," but could lose if "Britain is successfully invaded or starved out."

Hitler is expending about twice the quantity of oil he is getting and "as to machines, once the American supply becomes effective, if it gets here, it will be conclusive," he said.

Vichy, France. A representative of Films Paramount, French subsidiary of Paramount Pictures, Inc., said German military authorities had occupied offices of all United States film distribution companies in Paris. All employees were told to leave.

Completion Of Plans For Naval Defence Of Canada's Coasts

Montreal.—Completion of plans for the military and naval defence of the eastern and western coasts of Canada and the United States were announced by the Canada-United States joint permanent defence board.

"The board from now on will devote itself to keeping these plans up to date to meet changing conditions," said the announcement, made after a three-day meeting, which included a session with Newfoundland government officials.

The announcement, released by Mayor Fiorella La Guardia of New York and Col. O. M. Bigger of Ottawa, co-chairman, added:

"The board must naturally take a realistic view of conditions and therefore the plans have been prepared with minute detail in the event that it becomes necessary to defend

War Saga

Australian Rout, Party Of Germans With Bayonet Charge

Tobruk, Libya, via Cairo.—A 23-year-old Australian salesman from Sydney has a war saga to tell his grandchildren that they'll never forget.

United Press Correspondent Jan Yindrich relates the story in probably the most graphic despatch to come from Tobruk since the beginning of the Axis siege. He says the Australian salesman, with a patrol of six men, routed 40 Germans and killed 12 by himself, with his bayonet and rifle-butt.

The Aussie says he believes the Germans in hand-to-hand fighting are no better than the Italians. That in a scrap where it's every man for himself, they go to pieces.

This, thinks the Australian hero, may be because the Nazis are so well-trained.

The Germans were routed from a position inside the Australians' wire defences. Facing heavy machine-gun fire, the Australian salesman and his patrol ran through the fire, then lay down 100 yards from where the Germans were. The salesman says he and his men took the Nazis by surprise with their bayonets and that not a single German soldier fired, although all were armed with machine guns and automatics.

B.C. Shipbuilding

Orders Placed So Far Amount To $10,000,000

Victoria.—The department of trade and industry said that wartime shipbuilding orders placed in British Columbia so far amounted to $10,000,000, of which about $10,000,000 had been completed. Recent orders included a $3,000,000 contract for two 9,300-ton steel cargo ships let to Prince Rupert drydocks.

The first shipment of steel for eight similar ships being built at Vancouver by Burrard Drydock Company has arrived and Hubert Wallace, general manager, said two keels probably would be laid in the next week or 10 days.

A Substantial Gift

Utah Mormons Send $1,000 Cheque For Canadian War Services

Calgary.—A cheque for $1,000 from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Salt Lake City, Utah, gave the Canadian war services campaign fund a boost upwards. The cheque came via J. H. Card, chairman of the Cardston committee, where there is a large settlement of people of this belief. Church President Heber J. Grant sent the cheque "with best wishes for the success of the cause for which Canada and Great Britain are making such heroic sacrifices."

New Training Plane Tested

Ottawa.—Tests have been carried out in Canada on a new primary training plane, the Fairchild M-62, a munitions and supply department source said. But he added that the question of building these planes in Canada for use of the Dominion's fledgling pilots was a matter that is still in the "preliminary talk stage."

Income Tax Returns

All Returns Must Be In By April 30th

Ottawa.—The final day of reckoning for some 500,000 Canadians liable to income tax on 1940 earnings is approaching. All income tax returns must be in by April 30 or the penalties provided by law are apt to fall on the delinquents.

The department of national revenue reported income tax collections for March at $39,958,806, an increase of $34,061,886 over March, 1940.

The increase was a reflection of the higher rates and lower exemptions applicable to 1940 incomes than to 1939, as well as to the new instalment plan for payments inaugurated this year.

This plan, designed to make things easier for persons having sizeable tax bills to pay enables persons to spread their payments over monthly instalments starting at the end of January. By paying a certain proportion of the tax in instalments prior to April 30 taxpayers earned the right to pay the balance in further monthly instalments after April 30 without interest on arrears.

A large number of Canadians took advantage of the plan but notwithstanding this, collections in April, the heavy month of the year for income tax payments, are expected to reach record proportions.

For the fiscal year ended March 31 income tax collections totalled $272,138,290 compared with $134,418,566 in the fiscal year 1939-40. Failure to file an income tax return on or before April 30 makes a taxpayer liable to a penalty of five per cent. of the tax ultimately payable and on payments due April 30 but not paid interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum is chargeable.

Seeking Information

London Turns To San Francisco For Plans On Rebuilding

San Francisco.—Off-bombed London, already looking ahead to the tremendous task of rebuilding its wrecked areas, has turned to San Francisco for detailed information about how the city was restored after the earthquake and fire of 1906.

The query reached Mayor Angelo Rossi through Dean Acheson, assistant secretary of state for the United States, after the latter received a letter from W. G. Jackson, member of the London county council.

Seeking to benefit by San Francisco's experience, Jackson explained that "consideration is being given the problems arising from the war damage that has occurred in London."

Mayor Rossi said all available records and other pertinent information would be forwarded to London.

Parachute Troops In China

Report Says Japanese Soldiers Carrying Out Exercises Over Shanghai

London.—The British Broadcasting Corporation quoted Reuters' reports from Shanghai that several thousand Japanese troops have been sent to the city "to counteract a Chinese move from the southeast."

The report said Japanese parachute troops have been carrying out large-scale exercises over the northern suburbs of the city, jumping from troop-carrying planes flying in formation.

TO URGE MORE SHIPS

Sir Arthur Salter, right, under-secretary in the British shipping ministry, shown as he talked to reporters on his arrival in New York on a mission to urge speed-up in production of shipping by American shipyards for use in trans-Atlantic trade. Sir Arthur was quoted as saying that the British government was prepared to recommend use of American shipyards for convoy purposes if asked by Washington.

No Change In Policy

Turkey Not Negotiating Non-Aggression Pact With Germany

Istanbul.—The newspaper Yeni Saha declared that rumors Turkey is negotiating with Germany for a non-aggression pact are "a shadowy form of German propaganda."

It added: "This shows we are in a war of nerves and facing a very serious propaganda campaign. Almost always this kind of activity is followed by military attack."

"The fact that we retain a non-belligerent attitude must not be taken as a change in our policy. The other side chooses not to understand this and is trying to make it appear that Turkey will swing to the Axis."

Sending Marines To London

U.S. Navy Will Supply Guard For The American Embassy

Washington.—Navy Secretary F. Knox said the United States navy is prepared to send a force of one officer and 35 marines to London to guard the American embassy.

Col. Knox said only a formal request from Ambassador John G. Winant was awaited before the guard was sent. He described the move as a "minor" matter and said the guard was "an ordinary embassy guard."

Marines now guard the embassy at Peking, China, and were stationed at the London embassy in the first Great War.

New Taxes For U.S.

Washington.—Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau announced that the United States administration and both Democratic and Republican congressional leaders had agreed to ask $3,500,000,000 of new taxes to be raised in the next year.

DUCHESS AND FARMERETTE

The Duchess of Gloucester is shown, left, chatting with a pretty farmerette, who can drive a tractor with any man, during her visit to the Northamptonshire Institute of Agriculture, where members of the women's land army are trained.

Buildings Destroyed By The Recent Nazi Raids On London

London.—It was disclosed that the dome of St. Paul's, historic symbol of London's skyline, had been pierced recently by a bomb.

Other landmarks that have suffered in recent raids include the City Temple, a Congregational church; Chelsea Old church; Guy's hospital; Chelsea Royal hospital, historic home for pensioners of the Crimean, Iber and First Great Wars; Christie's, famous art auction establishment, and Selfridge's department store.

St. Paul's great dome was pierced by a bomb which made only a small hole, but which tore a great gash in the main floor and demolished a crypt beneath it. The body of Lord Nelson, hero of Trafalgar, occupies the crypt space directly below the dome, and in the west portion is the tomb of the Duke of Wellington—two of Britain's heroes who helped defeat Napoleon—but whether these or other tombs were damaged was not stated.

Almost every pane of glass, some of which, dated back to the time of Sir Christopher Wren, architect of the cathedral, was blown out.

The cathedral treasurer, Canon Alexander, was almost under the transept when the bomb fell. He was badly shaken by the blast but was unhurt.

Statues of General Napier, Admiral Duncan and Lord Vincent were not seriously damaged, but the head of the statue of Maj.-Gen. Andrew Hay was blown off and a child's head is missing from the symbolic figures of another statue.

St. Paul's now is closed, but services will continue to be held in the crypt, which accommodates about 500.

Christie's received a direct hit and fire completed the destruction, but the directors said they hoped some art treasures of the 200-year-old firm are safe in strong boxes. The firm is continuing business in temporary quarters nearby.

An oak-paneled courtroom in Guy's hospital dating from 1759 was destroyed by fire. The ceiling was painted by Sir Joshua Thornhill, father-in-law of Hogarth. The three-story wing where the room was located was razed, but it was unoccupied. Most of the valuable old furniture had been removed.

Eight pensioners were among the Chelsea hospital dead. A bomb fell on the infirmary which had escaped damage in previous raids, though other parts of the hospital were hit. Maples, a big west end furniture store, was another recent raid victim. It was burned out.

Herbert Morrison, minister for home security, first disclosed the extent of the British raid on Berlin, the 40th of the war. It had been thought for many hours that because of the weather the raid was a small one, more a gesture and a challenge than a raid.

Morrison disclosed that the Stirlings had taken part in the raid and used new type bombs, and announced Britain's determination to fight it through on the Nazis own lines.

Morrison made his announcement in a brief speech while inspecting civil defences in west London.

"The bombs were seen to burst in the centre of the city," he said. "The new Stirling bomber was in action on this raid. Unlike the Nazis, we make no hysterical noise about reprisals. We have our plans. They will be carried out. Berlin will be bombed according to plan. Let Hitler understand that we have as much right to bomb Berlin as he has to bomb London."

Acreeage Bonus

Payment On Summerfallow To Be Made After July 1st

Ottawa.—Federal bonus of $4 an acre on wheat land turned to summerfallow will be payable on acreage shown after July 1, agriculture department officials said.

Regulations set forth that the minister of agriculture "on or after July 1, 1941, in respect of wheat acreage reduction on any farm" may pay $4 in respect of each acre which is summerfallowed in 1941 in excess of the number of acres which were summerfallowed in 1940.

Agriculture Minister MacMillan of Alberta said he had received information that the federal bonus on summerfallow land would be computed on the acreage shown at July 31 instead of July 1.

London. Hon. R. J. Manion, former Canadian Conservative leader, arrived in England by clipper to undertake a survey of Canadian auxiliary war services.

Face Problem Of War Purchases By Canada In The United States

Washington.—Problems faced by Canada in financing war purchases in the United States will be the subject of intense study by treasury officials of the two countries in the next few weeks.

Exploratory negotiations already have started and the whole broad question is expected to be discussed at length by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and President Roosevelt.

Canada, it has been estimated here, faces a deficit in American dollars for purchases made in the United States, running perhaps $300,000,000 or $400,000,000 in the current fiscal year. It might be higher as a result of any big increase in British orders placed in Canada and involving financial transactions in the United States for which Canada would be responsible.

The prime minister had a conference with Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, but it could not be learned what subjects were under review. Clifford Clark, Canada's deputy minister of finance, also is in Washington for consultations on treasury matters.

In addition to seeing Morgenthau, the prime minister spent 70 minutes with Secretary of State Cordell Hull and had lunch with Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States.

To handle the threatened deficit exploratory negotiations have been opened, although the Canadian government is having no difficulties at the moment.

There are at least four different ways that financial assistance could be extended to Canada:

1. Canada could come under provisions of the lend-lease act, military supplies being procured in American factories and loaned or leased to Canada in the same way that Britain operates. This plan probably will be adopted only as a last resort.

2. The neutrality act could be amended by congress to give Canada the right to float loans in the United States, a privilege denied to all belligerent nations.

3. Some arrangement might be made between Ottawa and London by which Canada would obtain gold or American dollars from the British government which could be passed on to Washington.

4. Canadian factories might be used to process armaments for the United States government and thereby accumulate American dollars.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

THE GERMAN advance in the Balkans serves to again demonstrate the futility of small nations trying to observe neutrality in the face of German aggression. Turkey is in a very precarious position, and if it suits Germany's purpose, it will share the same fate as other nations who thought they could keep out of the war by being neutral. Eire is another pathetic instance of a neutral country, whose policy is not only dangerous to itself, but is also a menace to the safety of Britain and its shipping. In the face of such handicaps Britain carries on a struggle against great odds, yet the morale of the people is stiffened instead of weakened and their determination is increased to see the war through to victory.

IN the United States Colonel Lindbergh talks as if he were an advocate for Germany. He is an enigma. A man who had the hardihood to fly solo from New York to Paris, must have qualities of bravery, yet in his utterances on the war between Britain and Germany, he appears to be a defeatist, and urges his country to keep out of the war at all costs. Fortunately the overwhelming majority favor all out aid to Britain. The privileges of free speech permit him to publicly state sentiments which would not be permitted in Germany. The British people do not wish to be bolstered with reports that are not substantiated by facts, and insist that they know the worst if any setback are suffered. On the other hand, they certainly disapprove of statements such as that recently made by Lindbergh to the effect that Britain had lost the war before it had started, and there is little use for the United States to give further aid. Had the people of Britain adopted this attitude a year ago, when the odds were far heavier against them than to-day, possibly by this time Colonel Lindbergh would have found that after all, Britain and its navy were the first line of defence for his country against German aggression. Hitler's lust for conquest would not have been satisfied with over-running Europe; like Alexander, he would be looking around for fresh worlds to conquer, and the North American continent would be a tempting prize.

THE sale of War Savings took a decided drop when the campaign for the $5,500,000 National War Services Campaign started in March. From the War Savings committee at Ottawa comes the following startling news: "Up to Saturday, April 12, our sales for the month of April amounted to $2,598,548, or at the rate of approximately $5,500,000 for April." Compare this with February and March, the sales being $9,405,932 and $10,063,796. The report from Ottawa proceeds: "These figures indicate that the War Savings campaign is not over, as some people seem to think. They reveal the need for a constructive propaganda and canvassing job—a job of educating the man in the street to the fact that War Savings work is a continuous national effort—an effort for the duration of the war. No committee can shut up shop; you must keep your community very much aware that you are actively open for business. No matter what additional campaigns may be in progress, your organization must continue at work. So please keep your workers lined up, your committees constantly at top strength and in full activity."

LEST there be any who believe that Hitler's so-called "new order" in Europe will prevail, it is well to recall history no further back than Napoleon's time. The world is becoming too enlightened for dictatorship or totalitarianism (merely a veneer for brutalitarianism) to endure. From Collier's magazine, it is noted that in 1813 Benjamin Constant wrote a book entitled "Prophecy from the Past." Constant, a French refugee from Napoleon's empire, was living in Germany and "millions of Europeans, Englishmen and Americans were persuaded that Napoleon's 'New Order' had come to stay." That was 127 years ago. The world to-day is experiencing the evil and suffering resulting from a maniacal lust for conquest which parallels that of Napoleon. Human life is regarded as so much chaff to be destroyed by the most devilish devices of terrorism that can be brought to bear on defenceless people, till Britain has been forced to retaliate in like manner. It is however, well for doubters to remember that "Righteousness will prevail." Napoleon's power was broken almost overnight in the anticlimax of his career when Wellington and Blucher smashed his legions and his Old Guard at Waterloo. Hitler's power will surely be broken by the combined forces of Democracy, led by Britain and the United States. Of that let there be no doubt. The world is too enlightened to allow State slavery and terrorism to exist, for Democracy is ever on the march, despite occasional setbacks.

This is the fourth editorial of a series specially written to give a simple explanation of the functions of a weekly newspaper in the community.

Editorial No. 4

THE PRESS AND THE CHURCHES

ONE of the most misconstrued relationships in the publishing field is that between the newspaper and the churches in the community it serves. The newspaper man asks himself the question: "What should be my attitude towards the churches?" He endeavours to answer that question so that he will be fair both to the churches and to himself.

Churches sometimes assume the attitude that as they are supported solely by voluntary donations and as they are a spiritual and moral force in the community, any publicity desired should be given without charge by the newspaper. Strangely enough the churches do not expect the same privilege from any other business or profession. It should be remembered at the outset that most publishers are church members, and that as individuals they are decidedly interested in the welfare of the church with which they are affiliated. They give regularly and as generously as their circumstances permit. They attend the various functions designed to raise funds for the continuance of the church's work. As such they must be considered as any other church member who is conscientiously striving to support the church and what it stands for.

While newspapers are more generous with space to churches than to other institutions, this is simply a recognition by the press of the premier place held by the church in the spiritual and moral sphere in the community. However the church has no legal right to expect the press to give more generously than any individual church member. It is not expected of the man who sells the church fuel, or the public utilities which serve the church. In larger centres it is not expected that the organist should give his services free, or that the caretaker should work without remuneration.

The press, we believe, will always recognize the position and value of the church in the community. It will realize that the community without the church would be like a rudderless ship, not knowing whence the tide of events and fortune might lead it. The press will continue to give service to the church as one important institution to another, but the church must also realize that to continue its service, not only to the church but to the community, the newspaper must have an income, and that income can only come from the space it sells in its columns. This same reasoning must apply to charitable organizations in the community. To them the publisher and the men and women who work for the publishers give generously of their private means and of their time and talent. They too must prosper if they are to continue the support to the church, and all kindred organizations seeking to carry out an uplifting work in the community.

Aircraft cloth, anti-gas cloth, uniform cloth—these are a few of the textile industry's products that are needed in ever larger quantities by the Empire at war.

CANADA PRODUCING MANY FORM OF ARMY EQUIPMENT

Sufficient Lee Enfield rifles for use in Canada, Bren guns adequate for the active army and training centres in Canada, machine guns to equip every machine gun battalion in the field on the basis of present establishment, and field artillery to equip the 3rd and 4th Divisions are now available, according to a statement by the Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence in the house of commons on March 31.

Anti-tank rifles are in process of production, and gun barrels of anti-tank guns have already been delivered. 18-pounders are being used for anti-tank training, the minister told the house.

Universal gun carriers, divided between Canada and overseas, are being delivered at a good rate. The supply of motorcycles is adequate and there is a surplus of mechanical transport which has been supplied in large quantities to both Canadian and Empire forces. Enormous quantities of small arms ammunition are being supplied to Britain in addition to provision for home supply and training purposes, and gas respirators have been delivered in quantities sufficient to supply all active formations in Canada, while a large order for South Africa has been undertaken. Signal equipment is now being made and delivered. Standard field telephones are available in large numbers, and delivery of wireless sets is beginning.

With regard to tanks, the co-ordinated committee is working well, the minister stated.

Some automobiles are so slow they can't keep up with the monthly installments.

"THIS IS NO PART-TIME JOB"

Quoted by President Roosevelt in radio address, March 15, '41.

The President in his radio address warned the American people, that, a half-hearted effort on their part would lead to failure and urged an all-out effort.

To us Canadians "AN ALL-OUT EFFORT" on our part is even more urgent. We must WORK full time and SAVE TO LEND full time for victory now and security later.

Alex. Easton Talks With Princess Alice

Princess Visits Belcher Hospital on Calgary Visit And Talks to Patients

Alex. Easton, patient in the Belcher hospital for the past four weeks, had the pleasure of conversing with Princess Alice when she visited the hospital during her visit at Calgary this week.

A Calgary Herald story touching on Alex's conversation with the Princess reads: "In the veterans' ward where men who fought in the last war and who have been in hospital off and on, some of them almost all the time, ever since, were gathered, the Princess had kind words and smiles. Alex. Easton, of Coleman, who has been in hospital for four weeks, and who succeeded in having doctors postpone his operation, told the Princess of having had luncheon once, with King George V at Windsor Castle.

"I was in hospital at Luxbridge when 30 of us were invited out to luncheon," he said. "How nice," said the Princess smiling."

Well, then, there is something you can do. It's not a great task, but if you will do it and every other citizen in Canada will do it, the combined effort will pave the way to Victory. That something is to start buying War Savings Certificates and keep it up "for the duration".

Remember, you are not giving your money—you are investing it. You will get it back with a good return. Your security is guaranteed by the Dominion of Canada.

As loyal citizens, we must all pledge ourselves to buy War Savings Certificates. Canada asks us to do no more. Surely we dare not do less.

DISPOSITION OF A HAM

A true—only too true, story

(By Freda Graham Bundy)

The Radio Operator was to be one of the crew to ferry a bomber across the Atlantic and he was delighted at the prospects in more ways than one. A fellow would be indirectly getting a crack at Adolf and at the same time there would be opportunity to have a short visit with relatives in England.

The R.O. had not seen his parents for a number of years and it occurred to him that it might be well to take them a few things that they had not been able to produce since war measures had been adopted.

With this in mind he made up a generous parcel of lemons, onions, tea, coffee, a slab of bacon and a 10-pound ham and on the morning of departure toted it to the air field. It just hadn't occurred to him that he would be in the lead plane and that his parcel would be rubbing shoulders with the diplomatic mail. However, realizing that it was to fill a mission that would be proportionately as important in its way, he laid his bundle with those of State.

The convoy of planes winged their way across the water to their first stop but the truth of the statement that these are uncertain times was borne out when they received word to return to their starting point.

The R.O. had taken his bundle from the plane and carried it to his hotel for overnight and back it went in the morning as they continued on the first leg of their return journey. Another overnight stop, another hotel and another portage for the bundle. Back to the home port, back to the hotel room, back with the bundle.

To say that the R.O. was disappointed would have been stating it mildly and his disappointment was overshadowed by his concern for the parcel. It might be well to open it up and examine the contents. The lemons proved to have a worried look as if they feared an approaching end, but perhaps it was from the close proximity to the plebeian onions. However, they were soon disposed of and the bacon was sold to a fellow associate.

The ham presented slightly more of a problem, for it soon became apparent that the city dwellers considered ten pounds of ham as a staggering amount to be purchased at one time. The half-price of one dollar and fifty cents finally enticed a young stenographer.

"Are you sure that there is nothing wrong with it?" she asked anxiously.

"Absolutely nothing," replied the R.O. indignantly.

"Then why are you selling it at half price?" she continued.

"To get rid of it" was the retort. "The care of that ham is driving me crazy."

"I'll take it on condition that I may return it if not satisfactory."

And on this basis the transaction was made, the R.O. feeling as if some tremendous burden had been lifted from his shoulders, for he could now return to his hotel room without having to share it with a ham.

He was at the office early the next morning, in good humor with the world in general, or at least, until the stenographer entered bearing a brown-papered parcel under her arm.

"Ye gods!" groaned the R.O. "It has come back—it's like the cat, like the bad penny, like the swat of—"

"It's gone bad," announced the girl, interrupting his lamentations. "Bad?"

"Yes, there's some blue mold or something on the outside of the skin."

"Great heavens!" cried the R.O.

"Do you mean to say you have never seen that on hams hanging up in butcher shops?"

"I've never seen more than two or three slices of ham at a time," was her confession and at this the R.O. groaned again.

"Here's your money refunded," he said.

It was with slow and measured steps he returned to his room that night for once more it had become a prison cell and he was sentenced to resume his burden. He'd bury the thing! He'd get a shovel and go to the outskirts of the city and dig a deep hole! Oh, no he wouldn't. In the first place, where could he borrow a shovel; in the second place, suspicion might lead to arrest if he were seen digging a hole even for a ham.

There was a better idea than that—send it to the friend whose husband had lately enlisted. She and the kiddies would no doubt make good use of it. It was a whale of an idea and the R.O. wrapped it carefully and hurried to the express office. Mileage and charges were computed and it was with a great sigh of relief that the R.O. laid down the money.

"Oh, by the way, what's in the parcel?" asked the agent.

"A ten-pound ham," was the genial reply.

"Well, well, that's different. You cannot ship meat from one place to another without a permit and an inspection certificate."

"What!" exploded the R.O. "Do you—you—mean that I can't—I—"

"Just take the parcel down the street and have the meat inspected, then go up town and get your permit, then bring them back here and we'll ship your parcel."

The Pilgrim Christian never passed through such a slough of despondency as did the R.O. on his retreat to the hotel. The parcel had assumed a sort of personality and if one had been in a mood similar to that of the R.O. one could easily have detected a fiendish leer formed by the string on the bundle.

Dinner that night tasted like so much sawdust and the martyr hurried through it sketchily, then called a taxi to make a call at the Convalescent Hospital. He took the ham along, perhaps from force of habit and as they rode, he suddenly turned to the driver.

"Would you like a ham?" he asked.

"What kind of a ham?" queried the perplexed fellow.

"A ham to eat—a ten-pound ham."

"For—for nothing?" was his incredulous exclamation.

"Absolutely!"

"What's wrong with it?" cautiously asked the driver.

"There's nothing wrong with it—it's a long story—you'll have to take my word for it that I simply want to get rid of it."

"Say, that's swell," cried the fellow. "It hardly seems true but it takes all kinds to make a world. Thanks a lot."

It was a few nights later that the R.O. saw the taxi driver once again. With quaking heart he waited for the fellow to recognize him and as he waited he fearfully craned his head forward to catch a glimpse of the car seat. If there had been a brown paper parcel there the R.O. would have jumped from the nearest dock, but there was an absence of any such thing and looking up he caught the driver's broad grin.

"See, boss, that sure was some swell ham," the fellow said and the R.O. heaved a sigh of relief that was almost a groan, muttering audibly and fervently, "Praise the Lord!"

"Beg your pardon?"

"Nothing—oh, nothing. Glad you enjoyed the ham—I used to like a bit of it myself."

Theatre Notes

You'll howl as the Hardy family hits Manhattan! It tops the list of all grand Hardy Family entertainments with their new hit, "Andy Hardy Meets Debutante." The story is crammed with laugh surprises. Mickey Rooney is at his best when with eight "bucks" in his pocket he decides to meet New York's No. 1 debutante, crash café society and paint the town red. Also in the cast are Lewis Stone, Judy Garland and Fay Holden. Judy sings many new songs. The film plays the Palace this week-end.

At Cole's theatre this week-end is "The Thief of Bagdad." If it were necessary to describe this in one word, that word would be—magic. Producer Alexander Korda took the mythical magic of an Arabian Nights fairytale, applied the modern magic of motion picture making and delivers that marvelous magic—a universally appealing film. It attains a new, unbelievable high in unadulterated fantasy, surpassing anything of its kind ever attempted with either living actors or more flexible pen-and-ink characters. So many are its wonders, spectators forget they are viewing fabulous people and events. Story delivers suspense, romance and action in bountiful quantities; backgrounds beggar description, their beauties and magnitude accentuated through tellingly-applied Technicolor. Conrad Veidt, Sabu, June Duprez.

Cigarette Fund Notes

Another batch of letters and cards arrived this week from Coleman men serving overseas. They read:

"Dear Friends—Thanking you very much for your kindness. We are still holding our own here. Wishing to be seeing you all soon as we believe we will beat them this summer. We are training hard and we feel better for it. Wishing you all the best. J. Raymond."

"Dear Sir—This is just a line thanking you and all the members of the Canadian Legion for the cigarettes. I received 300 on March 12 and 300 today, March 23, and they are certainly appreciated as lots of places here you can't buy smokes now.

Well the weather is grand now and we are still holding our own. But will feel a lot better when it is over and we are all back home again.

We thank you much for the cigarettes. It makes a fellow feel a lot better to know his friends are still thinking of him. Well along for now. Ptes. Roy and Ross Foster."

Dear Friends—Received your cigarettes O.K., and am very much obliged.

Everything fine and dandy. Jerry is pretty quiet. Wishing you all the best. I remain... F. Coccone.

Many thanks for cigarettes and best wishes to your Legion. Pte John Hastings.

Thanks for the smokes, they sure will be enjoyed... Cub Jenkins.

Thanks for the tobacco and papers, they were very welcome. J. M. Gate.

AUSTRALIAN WOMEN WORK ON FARMS AND IN FACTORIES

Australian women are working in their thousands in munitions factories and on farms. They have banded themselves together into efficient, smoothly disciplined navy, army and air auxiliary units. They drive lorries and tractors and transports, push rakes and hoes and brooms, stitch shirts and sheets and even shoes. They nurse the sick and injured of the services. They organize troop concerts, dances and similar social affairs, make an unending series of street collections for patriotic funds. In a word they seek out whatever war activity they can do, and then do it.

The Australian Red Cross Society has a working list of more than 30,000 volunteers; another 32,000 are with the Red Cross Emergency Service Companies.

The Country Women's Association has 17,000 women employed in local camps comforts funds all over Victoria. The association has also organized the collection of usable waste material in the country. The daughters of farmers have been organized into an Australian land army, to help tend crops and stock while the men are in uniform.

The Women's Air Training Corps has more than 1,600 names on its roll. Of these, 900 are engaged on fabric sewing, wireless adjustment, instrument adjustment, and general maintenance work on aircraft.

The most ambitious organization is the Women's Australian National Service, which, in the first month of its existence, placed more than 6,000 recruits into active training, giving them squad drill, physical exercise, first aid instruction, signalling tuition, and making them part of the general war activity in a hundred other ways.

Gardening

Tender vegetables are quickly grown. A check by dry weather or anything else invariably causes woodiness. To eliminate this danger experienced market gardeners push their plants along with frequent applications of commercial fertilizer. This must be applied carefully so as to be close to, but not actually touching, stems or roots.

Watering, of course, will also keep vegetable gardens growing in dry weather, but where the luxury of a hose is not available one can keep things moving with cultivation alone. This conserves moisture in two ways. It kills weeds that use up water and it checks evaporation by the sun. For this cultivation, small hoe is almost essential but there are other good tools, as well. A little three-fingered wire cultivator will work wonders around and under the flowers and vegetables. A Dutch hoe which is shoved along about an inch under the soil will cultivate a hundred feet or so of perennial bed in 30 minutes.

Rock Gardens

Primarily rock gardens are used to transform some difficult spot of a garden into a spot of unusual beauty and charm. Where the ground slopes away so rapidly that rains wash away the soil and grass will not grow, the new kind of gardening helps, and it also forms a pleasing connection for rough land leading up to woodland at the back of the garden proper.

These special plots are made to resemble miniature alpine ranges, and in them alpine flowers are grown. Such are usually tiny, short, sparsely things, that require little moisture during most of the year. They are specially listed in the better seed catalogues. To hold the sharply sloping soil, fair size rocks of the roughest possible nature, preferably weather beaten boulders, are buried to about two-thirds their depth irregularly throughout the slope. Good pockets of sandy soil are arranged between the rocks. The flowers find a foothold here and trail over the boulders.

For Special Locations

Because one's garden is too shaded, too sunny or too wet, is no longer sufficient excuse for doing without a flower garden. There are, as a matter of fact, flowers to suit almost any location. Some actually like damp soil, some dry, some full hot sun, others shady corners. Certain types do best in deep, rich soil, while some actually ask the poorer sorts. Special likes and dislikes will be found mentioned in the better Canadian seed catalogues, and if your garden is unusual in location it is advisable to make special selection. Indeed there are flowers to suit even the most indifferent of gardeners, some that really grow themselves regardless of neglect.

YOUR DREAMS MAY TELL SECRETS ABOUT YOURSELF

Should He Ignore His Dream?

"Lucky that was just a dream," he thinks, "or I'd lose my job." But he's wrong. No dream is "just a dream." Often it reveals something in yourself that you never knew—and perhaps should know. You, too, may have dreamed that you FORGOT to go to work. You looked at the clock and it said 5 p.m. That dream, coming from the secret storehouse of your mind, may mean that you're trying to evade some responsibility. Or you fear that inefficiency (in life itself) is causing you to lose out.

Another time you dream of pricing a hat, finding it costs a thousand dollars. Think! Maybe you're about to take some rash step; your better judgment is warning you. The price is too high.

Dreams, you see, can really help when you take them to heart. You may dream of stains, inkspots, because you're feeling guilty about something. Thinking out what it is might relieve you greatly.

Instead of lightly dismissing these dreams, use them to help solve your problems. Our 32-page booklet gives the scientific explanations for several dreams—flying, falling off a cliff, running from wild animals and other typical dream situations. Tells why some dreams are "prophetic."

R.A.F. Pilot Tells How He Captured 60 Armed Italians

The story of a Royal Air Force pilot who took 60 armed Italian prisoners with a concealed camera as his only "weapon" was one of the many strange experiences related after the fall of Tobruk.

The fighter pilot arrived at Tobruk just as the advance troops were moving in.

Hundreds of Italians were in the caves below the town. The pilot wandered in, got lost in the dark, and suddenly found himself in a cavern dimly lit by hurricane lamps. Sixty Italians were crowded there.

He thought quickly. He had no weapon and was not sure whether the Italians in the cave knew the garrison had surrendered. He showed his hand into his tunic pocket, clutched at his miniature camera and pointed it through the cloth "gangster fashion."

"I put on a fierce expression," he said afterwards, "and remembering something I had heard an Italian colonel use when he ordered his men to surrender I tried it. I snarled 'veni tutti, and they 'veni tutti-ed.'"

"Later I discovered it meant 'come on, all of you.'"

"Anyway, they followed me out into the lights like lambs, but I bet they were no more frightened than I. I propose to stick to aerial activities in future—it's safer."

Old Custom Revived

Shaving Mugs Being Used Again In War-Time Britain

Nobody would have believed it possible, but the time has come to drag grandpapa's shaving mug from among dust and cobweb covered antiques in the attic and whisk it down to the barber shop—they're in style again in war-time Britain.

Barbers in London report a shaving boom because of a shortage of razor blades. Old-time initiated shaving mugs are appearing on shelves. Girls wielding electric razors have been recruited to help meet the rush.

"I've put out my barber's pole—the centuries-old badge of my trade," said one barber. "I'm back at the old business of shaving. Since the last war, I don't suppose I've done more than 20 shaves a day on the average. Now my assistant and myself do about fifty in a morning."

"Three of my oldest customers have brought back the mugs they kept in my shop 25 years ago," said another. "They say they cannot be bothered to hunt for blades, and come in every morning for a once-over."

Word Was Correct

"On the day on which my wedding occurred—"

"You'll pardon the correction, but affairs such as marriages, receptions, dinners, and things of that sort 'take place.' It is only calamities which 'occur.' You see the distinction?"

"Yes, I see. As I was saying, the day on which my wedding occurred—"

Pity the poor moth! Just when we shall be glad to get out of our winter clothes he will be getting into them.

MATRON'S TRIM BUTTONED FROCK

By Anne Adams

How much faster your chores seem to go when your working clothes are neat and trim! This Anne Adams dress—Pattern 4726—is made in becoming tailored style so that you'll wear it about the house right now—you'll live in it outdoors later.

The buttoning in front is smart, slimming and convenient. In the bodice, yokes go across to keep your shoulders smooth, with darts below to hold the fullness in place. Notice the skirt buttoning at either side of the buttoning—so good for minimizing your waist-across. You might add patch pockets to further the good work.

The collar would be fresh in white or light contrast, perhaps with cuffs to match if you desire to have short sleeves. Make this shirtfrock in a neatly designed cotton or rayon print.

Pattern 4726 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3½ yards 35 inch fabric and ½ yard contrast.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

Words Of Inspiration

"During my visit over there I was called to Downing Street for a chat with Mr. Churchill. I found him exactly as one pictures him—strong, fearless, determined, the stern, courageous, unflinching leader of his people, nay more, the leader of all there is left of freedom in the world to day."—Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 27

THE EARLY CHURCH MEETING HUMAN NEEDS

Golden text: And the multitude of them that believed were of one heart and soul. Acts 4:32.

Lesson: Acts 4:32-7:60

Devotional reading: I John 3:13-18.

Explanations and Comments

Sharing Possessions, Acts 4:32-35. Settled on the northwestern shore of the Dead Sea, and living in scattered communities throughout Palestine in the time of the Early Church were the Essenes, a sect that literally had all things common. Each one deposited in a general treasury whatever money he possessed, of which several managers took charge, supplying from it the needs of all. In Egypt there was a Jewish sect called the Therapeutai, whose members gave away all their possessions when they joined the order, and there was among them no distinction of rich or poor. Here in our text it is said of the disciples at Jerusalem at this time that they were of one heart and soul, and not one of them said that aught of the things which he possessed was his own, but they had all things common. With them, however, the giving up of possessions was voluntary (5:4); each one regarded his property as held in trust for others.

With great power the apostles testified to the resurrection of the Lord, and great grace—God's free favor—was upon them all. The proof of the divine grace was shown in the wonderful generosity of the Christian community: as need arose for assistance among the poor, those who had lands or houses sold them and brought the money received to the apostles for them to distribute. "Laid them at the apostles' feet" is a figurative expression which doubtless arose from the Oriental custom of laying gifts at the feet of kings, and meant that the money was left in the apostles' control.

"Do not miss the significance of verse 33. The apostles gave more than money. Other riches had been committed to their care. They had something more precious than gold. It was the Gospel of the resurrection. The Gospel of life, of pardon, peace and joy, and the Gospel of power, and this they gave as well as other things" (John Gardner).

Kind To His Servants

Dean Swift Always Rebuked Them In Amusing Way

Despite the fierceness of his pen, the famous Dean Swift was not without amiable qualities. He was particularly kind to his servants, and even when he had to rebuke them, he did it in such an amusing fashion that it took away the sting, while making it more certain to be remembered.

One evening a joint came to the table decidedly overdone. Swift sent for the cook.

"Cook," he said, "take this mutton to the kitchen, and do it less."

"But, sir," she replied in utter amazement, "that is impossible."

"Then for the future," said the Dean, "if you must commit faults, commit faults that can be mended."

Much Cotton Used

In the manufacture of 1,600,000 automobiles, 89,000,000 pounds of cotton are consumed for brake linings, timing gears, spring glass, etc. The cotton is the crop of 558,000 acres.

CORONARY THROMBOSIS

Coronary thrombosis is far from being immediately fatal. Indeed the majority of patients, both public and private, are able to return to work following an attack, and remain in good health for many years.

Drs. Masters and Dack, well-known clinicians of New York, have made a masterly analysis and report upon the subject which goes far in proving that the results, in a large series of cases, are most hopeful. Thus for example in 75 cases in private practice, 62 per cent. of them returned to their usual routine of life or work, 14 per cent. resumed light work and only eight per cent. were completely disabled.

A larger series of 415 patients, 185 private and 230 public ward cases who had sustained coronary occlusion and had survived the acute attack, made an excellent showing.

There were 342 males and 73 females. Of these 75 per cent. had suffered one attack, 22 per cent. a second attack and the remainder a third or 4th attack when first seen.

All types of occupation and all strata of society were represented. More than 50 per cent. of the ward patients were manual labourers while but 11 per cent. of the private patients were so employed.

More than half the patients returned to work on full time. Half of this group resumed work within three months of discharge from the hospital, three-fourths within six months and nine-tenths within a year.

The professional and white collar classes resumed work more frequently than did persons engaged in other occupations.

The younger the patient the likelier he will be able to work. The percentage in women was about the same as men.

The worst feature in coronary thrombosis is the number of attacks. Thus it will be seen from the foregoing analysis that coronary thrombosis cases present a far from discouraging picture.

New Type Of Flour

Contains Seventy-Five Per Cent. Of The Necessary Vitamins

Dr. F. F. Tisdall, of Toronto, nutrition advisor to the federal department of national defence, told a Canadian club audience at Winnipeg that a new type of white flour which retains about 75 per cent. of necessary vitamins has been perfected by Dominion government researchers.

Speaking on development of wheat milling, Dr. Tisdall said that under Dr. H. L. Newman, Dominion cerealist a flour milled by a new process from rust-resistant wheat retains 75 per cent. of vitamins. Under other milling conditions white flour only retains about 15 per cent. of its vitamins, he said. The expense in changing the milling process would be very little.

"If Canadians used the new type white flour in place of the old, they would receive for nothing, at drug store prices, $34,000,000 of vitamin B one and over $6,000,000 of other B vitamins in the course of one year" he said.

Dr. Tisdall said surveys by the department of pensions and national health showed that a considerable proportion of Canada's population was not receiving the proper food. "If the people of Great Britain and Canada were properly fed, instead of a food surplus there would be a food shortage."

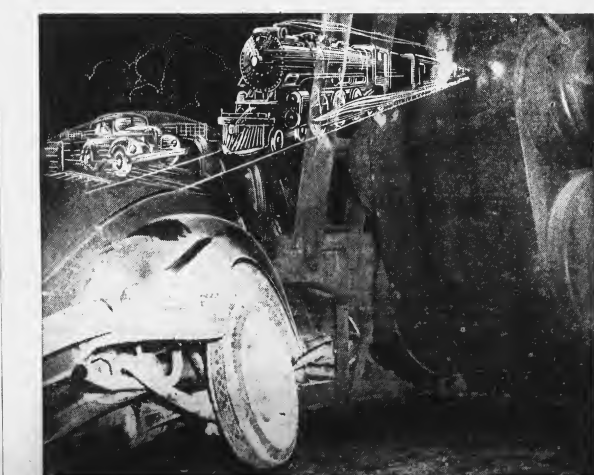

Proud Of Old Country

Reputation Of British Isles Was Never Higher In Australia

An officer of the mercantile marine just back from Australia declares that the reputation of this country has never stood so high there. He had only to appear in his uniform in the streets of the port cities to receive invitations to lunch, dinner, picnic parties, motor runs, and other forms of hospitality.

The pride of Australians in the Old Country in the stand it is making is unbounded and very touching. —News of the World.

WHEN DEATH WON THE RACE

Carelessness, the urge to hurry, the craving to take a chance, or ordinary disregard to elementary safety precautions, caused 346 railway crossing accidents in Canada in 1941. A total of 133 persons were killed and 485 injured in these accidents, one of the worst death tolls in Canada's history. In the above photo-diagram, the third in the series showing the perils of taking a chance with a speeding train, a common accident is depicted. Many motorists, misjudging the speed of an approaching train, attempt to race it to the crossing, with dire results. Here a momentary pause to stop, look, and listen, would have saved a life.
